Congressman Urges Firing of UR Head

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick has demanded that Eric Hemphill be "fired" as director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

The Ellenville Democrat made the statement Friday after he had completed a walking inspection tour of the buildings and demolition remains in the Broadway East urban renewal area.

At this point Rep. Resnick said he had no suggestions as to who might replace Hemphill. "But maybe somebody else will be able to get something done around here."

Meeting Next Friday

He added that he plans to meet with federal and local officials next Friday to discuss practical measures which might be taken "to clear up the situation Downtown as soon as possible."

He said he would call for the public disclosure of all pertinent KURA records, including purchase prices of buildings claimed by the agency. The same move has been proposed by members of the Common Council and by James Sweeney, assistant regional director of the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The walking tour began about 4 p. m. and lasted over 90 minutes. Accompanying Rep. Resnick were Aldermen Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) and Emilio A. Primo Jr. (D-Fourth Ward) of the Common Council Urban Renewal Committee; Aldermen T. Robert Gallo (D-Ninth Ward), chairman of the Council's Finance Ways and Means Committee, William G. Davis (L-13th Ward); and Supervisor Irving Bell (D-Sixth Ward). The tour started at the Office of Economic Opportunity at 60 Broadway and circled the Broadway East area.

Rep. Resnick concluded from his inspection that many of the buildings in the project area had been torn down only half way, and that "an unduly large number of buildings have been destroyed for no apparent reason."

Hits Dislocation

He further raised a crucial issue in his observation that "the dislocation of the residents down here has in many cases been unnecessary. Instead of moving everybody out of these Downtown buildings, why hasn't the agency made corrections and renovations in the existing buildings and kept the tenants there? You should work with what you have first before you go tearing everything down," Rep. Resnick said.

He added that the "major emphasis on any Urban Renewal project should be constructive. Wholesale destruction doesn't prove anything." He added that he was "generally dismayed" by the overall Downtown situation.

The Congressman's third objection to the management of the Downtown project was "the agency's failure to live up to its contract agreements." In this connection he pointed out the lack of adequate iron railings in the Rondout vicinity.

Alderman Gallo, who has been a persistent gadfly of UR conduct in recent months, said he was "in total agreement" with Rep. Resnick's observations Friday and in his demand for Hemphill's resignation. The Common Council itself two weeks ago moved for the director's resignation, although no action had been taken on the proposal as of its most recent meeting Wednesday night.

Eric Hemphill was reached Saturday and said that he "would welcome an inspection

Extension of Summit Regarded Good Omen

By LEWIS GULICK
GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — American diplomats mixed optimism with caution today over prospects that two summit meetings at Glassboro will open the way toward solving major international issues. The fact that President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin met for five hours Friday, including three hours with no aides except interpreters—then agreed on another parley Sunday—was in itself regarded as a good omen.

Came As Surprise

Announcement of the follow-up session Sunday afternoon came as a surprise to the array of experts who figured the Friday meeting could only be a token one at best, considering how much difficulty the chiefs had all week over whether or where to get together.

As it turned out their first session at Hollybush, the brownstone residence of the Glassboro State College president, began with a handshake and ended with Johnson and Kosygin smilingly facing newsmen and a cheering crowd.

Kosygin concurred with Johnson's statement that their talks ranged over such issues as the Middle East crisis and Vietnam and that "we agreed it is now very important to reach international agreement on a non-proliferation treaty."

Some Disagreement

Presidential press secretary George Christian said the two leaders developed an understanding on the central question in the Middle East dispute—that "Israel does, of course, exist as a nation"—although they disagreed on other points.

Christian said Johnson hopes for a consensus on the other Middle East issues. He also reported that Secretary of State Dean Rusk, assigned to meet next week with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, is optimistic about chances for U.S.-Soviet concurrence on the draft of a proposed treaty to bar the spread of nuclear weapons.

The two private meetings by the chiefs plus the business lunch attended by their top advisers at the tree-shaded campus site Friday produced a sudden improvement in the tone of U.S.-Soviet relations.

Since Kosygin's arrival in New York a week ago for the U.S.-opposed U.N. General Assembly special session on the Middle East, the atmosphere had soured amid his public denunciation of American as well as Israeli policy and the arguments over a summit meeting.

Hail Spirit

But after the Glassboro parley, Johnson hailed "the spirit of Hollybush." He told a Democratic group in Los Angeles that this is the spirit of "reasoning together."

Johnson declared that he and Kosygin had agreed they both want "a world of peace for our grandchildren."

But the President added a note of caution that "deep and serious differences" remain. "One meeting does not make a peace," he said.

"We reached no new agreements—that does not happen in a single conversation—but I think we understand each other better," he said.

Moscow radio carried only a brief comment for Russian listeners. It simply said that the two leaders met "in Glassboro, N.J., near New York" and that "the meeting was suggested by President Johnson."

Ask Probe of Plane Crash; All 34 Passengers Killed

By VINCE CAROCCI and STEVE MARCUS
BLOSSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The president of Mohawk Airlines has asked FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to investigate a "strong suggestion of sabotage" in the crash of a jetliner Friday that killed 34 persons near here.

In a telegram to Hoover Friday night, Robert E. Peach, Mohawk president, said "evidence has developed in course of notification of next of kin of crash victims which leads to strong suggestion of sabotage."

He did not give any details of the evidence.

The plane — a BAC111 on Flight 40 bound from Syracuse, N.Y., to Washington, D.C. — plunged in a ball of flames onto Blossburg Mountain in north-central Pennsylvania at 2:50 p.m., shortly after it took off in overcast from Elmira, N.Y.

Witnesses said the wreckage was scattered over a wide area and that nearly all the bodies were mutilated and dismembered.

"I was in World War II and I never saw anything like that," said Raymond Smith, 48, who visited the scene.

Before Peach sent his telegram, the FBI was routinely investigating any possibility of sabotage. FBI agents also were sent to the scene to help identify victims, and the National Transportation Safety Board, a newly established unit in the Department of Transportation, sent investigators.

Former Maine Gov. John H. Reed, a member of the board, said Friday night the airplane's flight recorder tape had been found, intact and would be sent to Washington for analysis.

He said investigators had heard reports of a bomb but that there was "no evidence to that effect, which has come to our attention at this moment."

Residents of Blossburg, a town of 1,956, about 30 miles south of Corning, N.Y., said they could tell the airliner was in trouble as it flew over.

"It sounded like the engine kept cutting out," one man said.

Blossburg postmaster Louis Schulz said he saw the plane's left wing on fire and pieces of debris falling off.

"It was making a noise like a whistle," he said. "It was just like a toy going down — going down sideways."

Schulz later visited the crash scene and said the fuselage was gone, "just as if someone had stuck some dynamite in the center and blew it to pieces."

Witnesses said the plane came down on a flat area of the mountain top.

A temporary morgue was established in the Blossburg fire hall, but some observers said identification would be an "almost impossible job." In addition to the FBI crew, pathologists and dentists were called to aid in identification.

The pilot was identified as Capt. Charles Bullock, 44, of Cazenovia, N.Y., who had been with Mohawk nearly 15 years.

Among the victims were two Franciscan priests from Graymoor, N. Y., and Montour

Reinforcements Brought Up Yank Company Ambushed; 76 Dead

SAIGON (AP) — An American infantry company on a search-and-destroy mission was caught in a deadly crossfire of North Vietnamese automatic weapons and small arms and lost 76 killed and 24 wounded the U.S. Command disclosed today.

The bloody action near Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, took place Thursday, the command said, but the news was held up for security reasons.

The badly mauled company of perhaps 150 men was part of the 173rd Airborne Brigade, the first Army combat unit to arrive in Vietnam, in May 1965. The company included many newcomers sent in as replacements for men rotated out of South Vietnam. It had been looking for the enemy since last Sunday but had had no contact until the surprise Red assault Thursday.

The company's two lead platoons apparently were sucked into a trap and isolated halfway up a heavily forested 4,000-foot ridge. The North Vietnamese attackers reportedly wore black berets, indicating they were elite troops.

The two platoons, totaling about 80 men, apparently became confused and disorganized. About 75 of these men were found dead on the battlefield, the others wounded, spokesmen said.

The heavy fighting raged for seven hours.

Two other companies maneuvered to reinforce the embattled and battered unit. The 59 men accounted for at the time the reinforcements linked up were evacuated to the base camp at Dak To.

Fighting was reportedly so close that air strikes on the Communists had to be greatly limited; even so, fighter-bombers flew what tactical strikes they could and armed helicopters were pressed into action.

Early today B52 bombers, each of which carries 60,000 pounds of bombs, blasted the area where the airborne troops took a beating Thursday.

Troopers sweeping over the area Friday reported skirmishes with small groups of North Vietnamese troops. They said they found 75 Communist bunkers, more than half of them shattered with fresh blood.

U.S. headquarters said no significant fighting had been reported since midnight Friday.

Although some U.S. officers at the scene estimated that as many as 450 North Vietnamese troops were killed, an official communique issued in Saigon said, "No firm enemy casualty count has been reported."

The Communist troops were identified as a battalion—perhaps 400 to 500 men—of the 24th North Vietnamese Regiment. It was the first time this unit has been reported in action in South Vietnam.

In the air war, U.S. pilots flew a near-record 171 missions over North Vietnam Friday. It was the most missions since the record of 175 flown last Oct. 14.

Among the key targets was the Nam Dinh electric power plant 46 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. It was the second raid in two days against the facility.

U.S. Navy bombers from the carrier Constellation assaulted the power plant, 46 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. U.S. headquarters said aerial surveillance photos taken after the raid showed that the generator hall of the 7,500-kilowatt power plant had been demolished, and other facilities heavily damaged.

On June 2, after three straight days of U.S. raids on North Vietnamese power plants, it was reported that 11 of the country's 12 power plants had been hit by U.S. bombers.

In other air action Friday Navy planes pounded rail lines 48 miles south-southeast of Hanoi. Aerial photos showed 17 boxcars damaged and all tracks either cut up or blocked. Pilots also reported silencing three antiaircraft gun sites in the area.

During the Navy assaults, Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs plastered the Kep railroad yards, crowded with an estimated 100 boxcars. Rail lines were chopped up and a number of cars destroyed, pilots reported.

Thailand-based Air Force jets attacked a surface-to-air missile site 35 miles northwest of Hanoi and pilots reported setting off orange flames and thick black smoke.

LEAVING FOR CAMP — Lt. Col. Frank Fabbie, (right) commander of 1st Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard Supervises last minute details before departure for Camp Drum, near Watertown. The battalion will be in camp for annual field training for two weeks and returns July 8. The main body of the battalion left early this morning. Checking the gear moving out with the advance unit are (l-r) Capt. Richard D. Nace, CWO Edio G. Ferreri and 1st Sgt. William A. Steding. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

During World War II, the Rev. H. Telfer Mook was with U.S. Naval Intelligence as a Japanese interpreter. His experiences in our prisoner of war camps on Saipan led him to become a minister, although before the war he was a lawyer. Among the 12,000 prisoners were 3,000 children, and he saw their hunger both for food and for understanding. Almost singlehandedly he cut tape to set up a school for them. He says he saw the Divine Hand in his work with the children on Saipan.

Ordained at the age of 38, he now sees the Divine Hand at work in another hunger spot in the world. He is Southern Asia regional secretary of the United Church board for World Ministries. His concern for the past year has been famine relief in India. Mr. Mook has spearheaded two programs in this area. In an emergency program to meet immediate needs, he has enrolled men, women and children over 12 to obtain food as they improve roads, deepen reservoirs, and dig irrigation canals. Thus they do not have to take a dole. The long range program is to teach the Indian farmer the use of modern methods of agriculture, from well-digging to use of fertilizers and pesticides.

"So long as there are such tremendous human needs in the world," says Mr. Mook, "I don't see how the Christian community in the most affluent period in America can rest until those needs are met."

UR Planning
Includes Two
New City Parks

Development of two small parks in Downtown's Broadway East urban renewal area is scheduled to start next fall, Eric Hemphill, Kingston Urban Renewal Agency executive director, announced Friday.

They will be the second and third site improvement projects since start of the 135-unit Rondout Gardens housing project earlier this year. Foundations are now being poured and a new street for the site off lower Hasbrouck Avenue has been staked out and graded.

One of the small new parks will be developed between Ferry Street and the Rondout Creek near the end of Broadway and the other on a site bounded by Newkirk Avenue and DuBois Street.

They will be developed as "sitting areas" with benches, trees and tables. The one at Ferry Street will be 295 feet long and ranges in width from 62 to 90 feet. Part of it is on the site of the former Cornell Company office building.

The area to be developed in the Newkirk Avenue area will be on a much smaller tract, 45 by 55 feet, and will be convenient to Rondout Gardens housing. It is in the urban renewal rehabilitation area.

Preliminary plans are due to be completed next month.

Communists
Split 3 Ways
On Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Communists, whom the Arabs had counted on to demand U.N. action against Israel, were split three ways today. The Romanian line calling for direct negotiations between the disputants roused Arab wrath.

Delegates at the U.N. General Assembly's emergency session on the Mideast were generally encouraged by the decision of President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to continue their summit talks Sunday.

But Johnson cautioned; "One meeting does not make a peace."

After Johnson and Kosygin met for five hours at Glassboro, N.J., Friday presidential press secretary George Christian said the two developed an understanding on one central question in the Middle East dispute—that "Israel does, of course, exist as a nation"—although they disagreed on other points.

Saudi Arabia's U.N. delegate, Jamil M. Baroudy, declared: "If they agreed or don't agree, there will be no solution if it is not a solution that satisfies the Arab world."

The Soviet line at the U.N. session, which it requested, has been to call for condemnation of Israel and withdrawal of Israeli troops from captured territory in Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

Fire at Ward's

Thirty-five Ulster Hose Co. 5 firefighters, including six officers, responded to an alarm at 2 a. m. today after the alarm system at Montgomery Ward's went off. Firemen saw no smoke outside the building on arrival, and the chief and two officers entered to investigate. They discovered a malfunction in the alarm system and notified store representatives.

Crushed to Death

ASPEN, COLO. (AP) — Two Clay, N.Y., women, Miss Carol Ann Fisher, 38, and Miss Karen Bout, 37, were crushed to death Friday when wind blew over a 126-foot high pine tree onto their parked car.

The Colorado State Patrol reported the women were sitting in a small car at Maroon Lake camp ground. The car was about 100 feet from the base of the tree, which snapped about 16 feet above the ground.

Patricia A. Stock Weds Paul Harney; Ceremony Takes Place in St. Peter's

MRS. PAUL HARNEY

(Lakeside Studio)

Miss Patricia A. Stock, by the matron of honor and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Stock, 11 Third Avenue, this city, became the bride of Paul Harney, son of Mrs. Edward C. Harney, Canastota, N. Y. and the late Edward Harney, Saturday, June 17, at a 12 o'clock nuptial Mass.

The Rev. Francis P. Brennan, administrator of St. Peter's Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Serving as altar boys were William J. Stock, brother of the bride, and Vincent Rua.

Soloist was Richard Scherer, accompanied at the organ by Miss Anne Goldrick. Pink and white shasta daisies decorated the Church and white bows marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory silk peau d'ange gown, styled with an empire waist, A-line skirt and cathedral train. The gown was appliqued with re-embroidered Alencon lace.

Her shoulder length bouffant veil was attached to a pillbox of antique orange blossoms which belonged to the bride's maternal grandmother. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies and roses.

Mrs. F. Joseph McDermott, Ambler, Pa., college classmate of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was light pink cotton, styled with empire waist, A-line skirt and bell sleeves. Her headpiece was pink leaves and pearls styled with a short veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink daisies and roses.

The attendants were Miss Carol Mozal, Glens Falls, and Mrs. Richard J. Sauer, Albany, both college friends of the bride. Their gowns were styled identically to that worn

Maisenhelder-Ford Nuptials Announced; Wedding Takes Place in New Paltz Church

MRS. ALAN E. FORD

Miss Barbara Jean Maisenhelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Maisenhelder, 2 Kachigan Street, this city, became the bride of Alan Edwin Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ford, 58 Valentine Avenue, The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward P. Mondkott, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz, performed the double ring ceremony Saturday, June 17 at 1:30.

Anthony Aiello was organist. White gladioli and pompons decorated the church. Pews were marked with white bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of waffle weave pique, styled with a jewel neckline overblouse and elbow length lace. The floor length A-line sleeves trimmed with Venice skirt was fashioned with a detachable chapel train trimmed with Venice lace. A double bow of matching fabric, centered with Venice lace, was attached to a shoulder length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Patricia Maisenhelder was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a Nile green floor length linen gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice over a sheath skirt. Her elbow length sleeves were trimmed with Venice lace. A double bow of matching fabric with a triple face veil served as her headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds and white daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Krupa, New Hyde Park, L. I.

Haagen-Wilde Nuptials Are Announced

Miss Mary Ann Haagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hess Haagen, Rockfall, Conn., became the bride of John Chamberlain Wilde, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wilde, Route 1, Box 453 A, Saugerties, Saturday, June 17 at 2 p. m. at the South Congregational Church, Middletown, Conn.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Russell Peery, pastor. Mrs. Margaret Martin was organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white linen gown, accented with Venetian lace applique and styled with an empire waist and chapel train. Her illusion veil was shoulder length and the Flemish bonnet was trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Elaine Haagen, Philadelphia, was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a lemon-yellow linen gown, with empire styling and simulated train. Her three-quarter length sleeves were trimmed with Venetian lace. She wore a headband of shasta daisies and carried a nosegay of sweetheart roses, carnations, shasta daisies and stephanotis.

The attendants were Miss Sylvia Lewis, Hackensack, N.J., and Mrs. David Becker, Rochester, college friends of the bride. Their gowns were identical in styling and color to the maid of honor's gown. Their headpieces were matching linen Dior bows and they carried nosegays of sweetheart roses, carnations, shasta daisies and stephanotis.

Anita Leon, Ithaca, and Sarah Rever, Needham, Mass., were flower girls. They wore ankle length lace dresses over yellow and trimmed with yellow ribbon.

Jon Yager, Granby, Conn., a Mt. Hermon classmate of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Paul Haagen, brother of the bride, Richard Wilde, brother of the bridegroom, Michael Cohen and James Cohen, Philadelphia.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Honors College, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

For her wedding trip to Highgate Springs, Vt., the bride selected a three-piece red linen suit with matching accessories and a corsage of golden carnations.

Mrs. Wilde is a graduate of Middletown, Conn. High School and Cornell University, Ithaca.

Her husband attended Saugerties High School and will reside at Cornell University for six weeks. In September they will move to Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

MIRIAM MAKEBA

will be appearing at Saratoga Performing Arts Center as a featured performer with Harry Belafonte, on June 29 and 30. First seen in this country in 1959, she is the only South African songstress to attain international recognition. Her repertoire, ranging from African songs in Zulu, Swazi, Xosa and other languages, features one of the most spectacular vocal effects in contemporary music, her famous Xosa click songs.

DO YOU REMEMBER

I think the Erie Canal 1817-1967 commemorative postage stamp which will be placed on sale on July 4, 1967 at Rome, may also be of local interest. No doubt those interested in our own D and H Canal which came to Rondout will want first day cancellations of the Erie Canal stamp. Anyone wanting this first day of issue, address a large envelope to Postmaster, Rome, New York 13440, and enclose self-addressed envelopes inside with a nickel for each envelope to pay for the stamp. It averages about 10 days or two weeks before they are returned.

This Erie Canal was first started on July 4, 1817 at Rome, the government brochure tells me. The Erie Canal was 40 feet wide, four feet deep and stretched 363 miles from the Hudson River, north of Troy, to Buffalo, and provided low cost transportation.

Those who are members of the Lions Club no doubt know about the stamp coming out on July 5, 1967, called Search for Peace, Lions International, which is also a five cent stamp. For these first day of issue you send to Postmaster, Chicago, Ill. 60607 written on the outside of your large envelope.

Inside place as many regular size envelopes, self-addressed with five cents for each envelope. This stamp will be red, blue and black on granite paper, and the vignette is based on the ancient Greek symbol for peace, the dove and laurel branch. These envelopes can be hand-decorated before or after being canceled, like the Robert Fulton which were serviced in Kingston's main post office.

July will be a busy month for first day cover collectors, besides the Erie Canal 1817-1967 coming out July 4, from Rome, New York, and the Lions International from Chicago, Illinois, another five cent stamp will commemorate Henry David Thoreau. This stamp will be out on July 13, 1967 from Concord, Massachusetts 01742. Thoreau was able to seclude himself for two years in a self-built cabin to contemplate, observe nature and to write at a place called Walden Pond. The name of the book he wrote is Walden, and has appeared in some 150 editions and in some 50 languages. July 13, 1967 is the 150th anniversary of the birth of Henry David Thoreau.

Those wishing to send for the above should try and mail their envelopes and money before the dates mentioned, and check several times, to make sure, each envelope is addressed, the five cents for each envelope is enclosed, and the proper address is on the outside of the large envelope, and return address. It is also a good idea to write your name lightly in pencil, if you wish to erase it later, and as small as possible, in case you wish to decorate the envelope later. They also often advise one to insert a thin cardboard in each envelope, not more than the thickness of a regular U. S. postcard, so that it is cancelled better, and is not creased in mailing.

MODERN LIVING DEMANDS MODERN WIRING

Working Press

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

If this be heresy, a 30-year area veteran of soccer, pleads guilty.

Robert Graves, the Port Ewen pedagogue who doubles as coach of the Kingston Sport Club entry in the German-American Soccer Association, makes some candid and not wholly complimentary observations about the international sport.

Since Graves is the most knowledgeable soccer figure in the area, his comments are worthy of attention. And they are bound to shake up those European oriented persons who insist on blind devotion to an archaic system.

In a sweeping indictment of present-day attitudes and techniques of soccer, Graves contends:

1) Soccer is under-officialized. Too much rough stuff and unpleasantness goes on for one official to properly control.

2) Penalties for infractions are ridiculous or outmoded. Kicking a ball off the field (while the clock continues to run) results in the most innocuous of all penalties—a throw-in.

AMPLIFYING No. 2 GRAVES SAID: "I happen to see some film clips of the great Pele of Brazil being 'chopped down' by 'aggressive' players from Bulgaria. It was deliberate, pre-meditated warfare, resulting in harmless free kicks of Brazil. This continued, unrestricted harassment of the world's greatest player recently caused Pele to announce he would never participate in another World Cup tournament. That is tantamount to Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper boycotting the U.S. Open golf tournament.

"There simply has to be more scoring if soccer is to gain national acceptance," said Graves. "The goals are too small. Today's goalies are stronger, and quicker than ever and most of today's soccer goals are scored, not from overpowering offenses but from mistakes of the defense."

SOCCER IN THE UNITED STATES has been milked by ethnic groups who use the game for ethnic purposes, Graves charges. "The people who have ruled the game in the East have been content to bemoan the sport's slow growth and generally blame the American public," he says.

"What a rude shock they are getting from CBS's willingness to spend millions of dollars in an effort to establish the sport in the United States," he adds.

Here we find ourselves in complete agreement with Graves. We've gotten the unfortunate impression that pre-CBS soccer sponsors appeared quite content to maintain soccer as a private sport. Little was done to publicize either the game or the individual players. There was seldom any identification of players, no scorecards, no public address systems to keep the fans abreast of the game and explain key points. The American sports fan accepts—and insists on—these services, as a matter of fact but European trained soccer officials and promoters have steadfastly refused to change their Old World habits.

GRAVES IS UNHAPPY THAT THE ARRIVAL of big money in the post-war years has changed the basic approach to the game and robbed it of its greatest charm—individuality. "Essentially a fluid game," Graves explains, "soccer has spread throughout the world because of its simplicity. It was a game of individuals with plenty of room for individuality.

"But the big money changed things," Graves went on. "Scores got lower and tight defenses are still in style. All kinds of new defensive formations were tried but the defense still remains dominant. All this at the expense of the game's greatest appeal—individuality.

Graves concludes with an appeal for patience.

"I hope you and your fellow sportswriters will be patient with the arrival of 'big time' soccer," he asks. "Foreign players, despite their skills, do not have the American willingness to subordinate their enthusiasm and skill for the benefit of the team. In my opinion (and some foreigners agree) this does best."

They say you can't teach an old dog new tricks. In the emerging soccer world this philosophy could be fatal.

Yates Keeps Tourney Lead

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Armed with a new set of clubs and wielding a precision putter, modest Wayne Yates has a lot going for him.

The 25-year-old Georgian carried a two-stroke lead into today's third round of the $103,500 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament, with veterans Gardner Dickinson and Arnold Palmer in hot pursuit.

Yates, who admitted Friday after shooting his second straight 66 that "the pressure is pretty good," was likely to feel it a little more today.

He was to play in the same threesome with Palmer, the game's all-time leading money-winner.

Arnie, had said he didn't know the pro from Atlanta after Yates led the first round.

The rangy Yates had a 36-hole total of 132, two strokes better than Gardner Dickinson and three ahead of Palmer, who fired a 68 Friday.

"I don't know what I'm doing," Yates said after his four-under-par round. "Everything I hit just went to the hole."

NEW WORLD RECORD — Jim Ryun of Kansas hit the finish line at the National AAU championships in Bakersfield, Calif. Friday night to set a new world record in the mile run. His time was 3:51.1, breaking his previous mark of 3:51.3.

Ryun's 3:51.1 Mile Breaks World Record

By FRANK O'REILLY

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)

—Amazing Jim Ryun, without collaborators, wrote another lustrous chapter in his continuing series of world mile records with a 3:51.1 in the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

Ryun, the lean but powerful Kansan, had to set his own pace Friday night and did so in exemplary fashion. But it was the 20-year-old running star's blistering 53.5 on the final lap that enabled Ryun to break the 3:51.3 he ran last July in Berkeley, Calif.

Pole vaulter Paul Wilson climaxed the two-day competition at Memorial Stadium with another world record—17 feet, 8 inches. The Southern California sophomore wiped out the mark of 17-7 established by teammate ago.

But the modest, smiling Ryun captured the sentiments of the 11,600 fans who thrilled to his solo virtuosity.

"I wanted the pack to go a little faster in the first lap," said Ryun. "When it lagged a little, I decided to go out on the pace by myself. I knew it would be harder, but it was the only way."

Fantastic Finish

"When I heard the timers say 1:59 at the first half, I didn't think I would get the record."

Ryun added but he turned in a 58.6 third quarter, then sprinted away from the field, bringing the screaming crowd to its feet with his classic finish.

Ryun's quarter-mile splits were 59.2, 59.8, 58.6 and 53.5, compared with 57.7, 57.7, 59.6 and 56.3 in his 3:51.3 last year. Incredibly, the next six finishers also broke the once-formidable 4-minute mark.

Jim Grelle of the Multnomah Track Club was second in 3:56.1; Dave Wilborn of Oregon, 3:56.2; Tom Von Ruden of Long Beach, Calif., 48ers track club, 3:56.9; Roscoe Divine of Oregon, 3:57.2; Sam Bair of Kent State, 3:58.7, and high school sensation Martin Liquori of Essex, N.J., 3:59.8.

Grelle, a 30-year-old veteran of 19 sub-4-minute miles, said admiringly of Ryun: "He's the only runner today who can go out and set his own pace like that."

Wilson, who still holds the national prep record of 16-64, set in 1965, was understandably pleased about orbiting into national prominence. But the Downey, Calif., youngster was as realistic about his mark as pole vaulters must be in this space age.

"The 17-8? It could fall in the next week," Wilson reasoned after missing by inches on two of his three unsuccessful attempts at 18'4."

Chance, Killebrew Top White Sox, 1-0

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cal Ermer, feeling the pinch of the pitching shorts, got a welcome shot in the arm from Dean Chance, who benefitted from a similar shot by Harmon Killebrew.

Chance pitched a brilliant three-hitter and Killebrew provided the game's only run with his 22nd homer of the year as the Minnesota Twins nipped Chicago 1-0 Friday night.

It was a change of pace for Ermer, the Twins' new manager. In 15 previous games, his staff had managed just three complete games and had allowed four or more runs 10 times.

Chance's effort was the top individual pitching job in the American League where California blanked Kansas City 2-0, New York dropped Detroit 3-1, Washington nipped Baltimore 3-2 and Boston battered Cleveland 8-4.

Ermer and Twins' President Cal Griffith huddled before the game and discussed the possibility of promoting some pitching help from Denver of the Pacific Coast League. But the idea was rejected.

Chance then made the talk academic by outdueling Joel Horlen, who lost his first game after eight victories.

The victory ended a three-game losing string for Chance and made him the American League's first 10-game winner at 10-5. He was knocked out four straight times before Friday.

Killebrew's 375-foot shot in the seventh inning gave the muscular veteran the major league home run lead over Baltimore's Frank Robinson, who has 21.

Until he connected, the twins had not moved a man past first base against Horlen and had left only one man on base as the White Sox choked off a pair of rallies with double plays.

MR Will Sell Lottery Tickets

The sale of lottery tickets will be the newest experiment at Monticello Raceway starting Monday.

Sullivan County's Mighty M, long a leader in harness racing innovations, will make facilities available for New York State to sell lottery tickets on an experimental basis. The move was prompted by a unanimous vote by the track's board of directors on Wednesday and acceptance by the New York State Tax Commission on Thursday.

Outstanding Coaches At Kutsher's Clinic

More than 1,000 "students," all of them coaches, will attend the annual free coaching school beginning Monday at Kutsher's Country Club in Monticello. The coaches will be from the 50 states and five foreign countries.

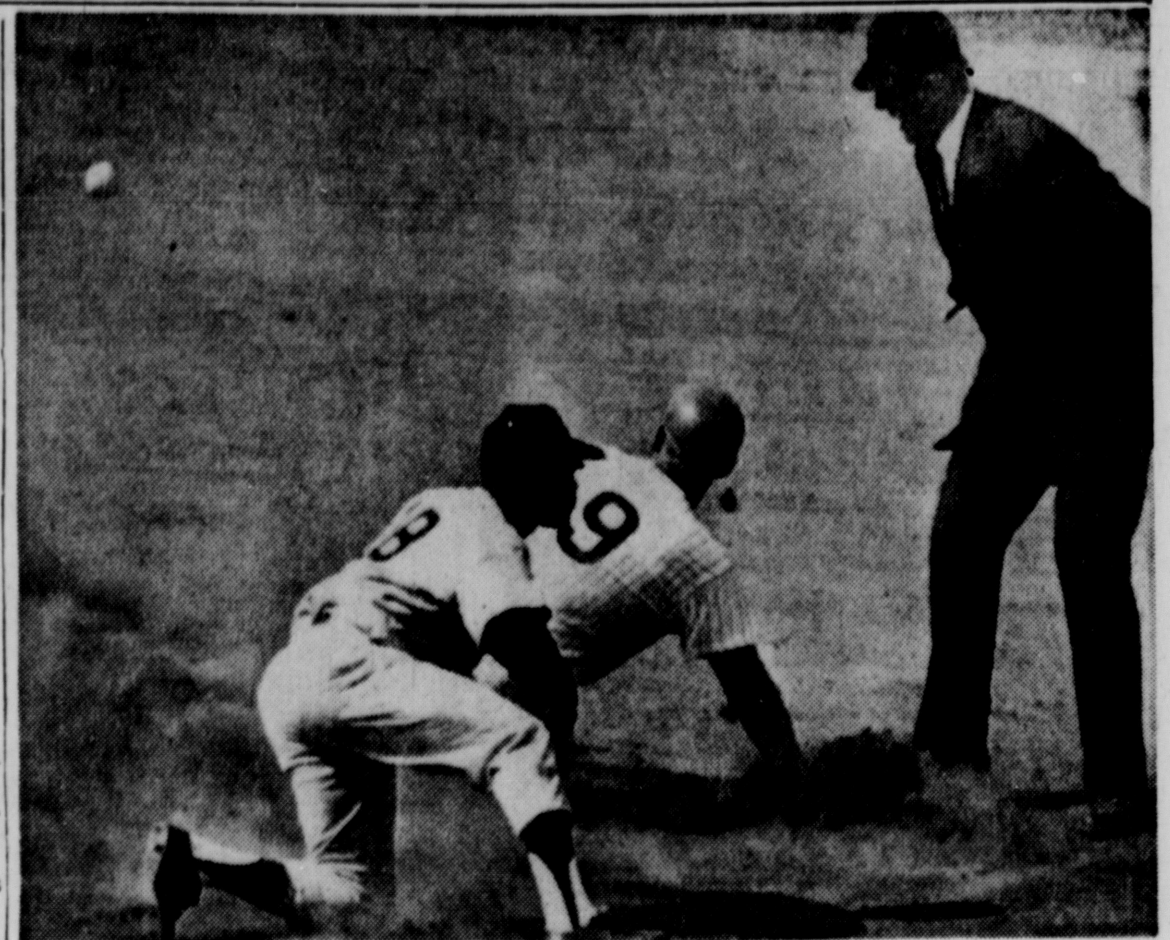

Heading the faculty will be Frank Broyles, Arkansas and Doug Dickey, Tennessee in football; John Wooden, coach of the UCLA national championship basketball team and Tommy Holmes, former big league manager.

The clinic, which will run through Thursday, June 29 will be composed of lectures and demonstrations by 26 of the nation's foremost coaches. The attending coaches are from all levels of play from playground to professional.

Top Grid Coaches

In addition to Broyles and Dickey, the football faculty will include Pete Elliott, former Illinois coach; Don Shula, coach of the Baltimore Colts; Glenn Dobbs, Tulsa; Frank Lautner, Toledo; Vic Fusi, Massachusetts; Nels Nitchman, U. S. Coast Guard Academy and William Horey, Glen Ridge High School, N. J.

The basketball faculty has Chair Bee, former LIU mentor and Fred Bell.

ONE THAT GOT AWAY—Randy Hundley (9), Chicago Cubs, stirs up a cloud of dust and turns for a view of the ball bounding away as he steals second base in seventh inning of game with Houston Friday in Chicago.

Houston second sacker Joe Morgan, left, took throw from catcher Dave Adlesh and made the tag, but the ball got away. Umpire is Ed Sudol. Hundley was credited with a stolen base. Cubs won, 9-8. (AP Wirephoto)

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The attention of many businessmen, economists and government officials centered this past week on the economic outlook for the approaching second half of 1967.

Opinion was divided but the majority seemed to feel that there will be an upturn in the next six months.

Meanwhile, the Federal Communications Commission approved the $2.8 billion merger of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

The vote was 4-3, the same as when the commission approved the combination last Dec. 21. Subsequently it held a hearing on the antitrust aspects of the merger at the request of the Justice Department.

The Justice Department said after the second approval that it would study the decision before deciding whether to appeal to the courts.

Many factors were involved in the various economic projections: inventory adjustment, capital investment, consumer spending, taxes, government spending, Vietnam and the Middle East.

Among authoritative sources making forecasts were the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and Standard & Poor's Corp., an investment advisory firm.

Morgan Guaranty said: "The customary business indicators continue to show that high-level sluggishness remains the dominant characteristic of the evolving business situation. But performance is nevertheless consistent with the widely held view that conditions favorable to business acceleration in the second half are developing."

Standard & Poor's commented: "A modified version of the late 1965 experience — a rapidly rising economy, a fast increase in profits, an expanding money supply and rising interest rates — may well be in the making for late 1967."

Indications were that the downward adjustment of heavy inventories was continuing. Some said that it had been completed. In April, total business inventories showed the smallest increase in many months, rising by only $100 million.

Restoration of the 7 per cent business investment tax credit gave hopes of increased spending for new plant and equipment. The railroads were the first to respond with sizable orders for new cars.

This Week in Business Gal 2 Consumers were expected to step up their spending to parallel the sustained rise in disposable income. Among the beneficiaries would be producers of consumer durable goods, particularly automobiles.

After President Johnson recommended in his January budget message a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes, effective July 1, many economists doubted it would get through Congress. Now, according to some sources, they have changed their view and expect a tax increase, possibly more than 6 per cent.

However, the time schedule has been changed. It's too late for the July 1 effective date and the administration is now talking about Oct. 1. Some congressmen think Jan. 1 would be more likely.

Whether the rate of government spending increases will continue depends mainly on whether the Vietnam war will escalate and on what transpires in the Middle East.

The Commerce Department reported this past week that new factory orders for durable goods — a key guide to future factory output — in May posted their sharpest gain since last September.

At $23.8 billion, the order inflow was up 6.6 per cent from $22.3 billion in April although it trailed the $24.3 billion in May 1966. Last September new orders jumped 7.6 per cent to a record $25.3 billion.

Sales of the country's leading chain store organizations rose sharply in May over the previous month and May 1966. Sales of 29 chain stores and mail order houses rose by 7.7 per cent in May to $1,898,356,532 from $1,762,015,907 a year earlier. Revenues in April totaled $1,738,057,000.

Automobile production this past week was estimated at 177,000 passenger cars, up 3.6 per cent but down 5.6 per cent from 187,600 a year ago.

Steel output last week slipped to the lowest level of the year. Mills turned out 2.21 million tons of steel, down 3.1 per cent from 2,281,000 tons the previous week.

Five years ago — Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker announced an austerity program to ease his nation's financial problems.

One year ago — The Organization of American States voted to withdraw the inter-American peace force from the Dominican Republic.

Bridge

Safety Gained Through Finesse

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

H. S. T. John Ingram of Kent, England, writes with typical British understatement.

"Here is a rubber bridge hand of considerable interest. West's queen of diamonds held the first trick and his jack the second. East playing the four and deuce, West made an error. He should have shifted to the king of hearts. East was marked with the ten of diamonds and the only hope for the defense was to collect either two heart tricks or one heart and one trump. Any way, West led another diamond. Declarer ruffed and played ace and ten of trumps. His idea was to win the expected heart return, cash two clubs ruff a low club, enter dummy with the jack of trumps and discard both heart losers on the last two clubs.

"East was no fool and led a trump right back. Declarer could only discard one heart and lost four tricks.

"Declarer made his error at trick four. His first trump lead should have been the ten. This would leave a sure extra entry to dummy and he would have made the hand in spite of failure of either black suit to break evenly."

We can't agree with Mr. Ingram's criticism of West's failure to lead a heart since we can visualize lots of situations where he would be dropping the king into declarer's ace-queen but we do admire his suggestion of how South should have played the hand. On the other hand the suggested play is one of those safety plays that don't appeal to us. It would be suicide against a 5-1 club break and singleton queen of spades, as an example.

We sort of favor a compromise play. South should cash the ace of spades at trick four, enter dummy with a club at trick five and lead a low spade to his ten at trick six. He wouldn't mind losing to a doubleton queen of spades in the West hand since he would still have his two entries to dummy. The only way this play could lose would be for West to hold three spades to the queen and return the suit when he got in.

Stopped by Pole

At 3:30 a. m. Saturday a car driven by Walter J. Dodd Jr., 20, of 178 Third Avenue, while traveling east on Delaware Avenue, swerved to the right to avoid hitting a dog and smashed into a utility pole.

Dodd received injuries to the head, left leg and left arm while a passenger, Gregory J. Parry, 19, of 116 Franklin Street, suffered an injury to the right leg.

The injuries were not considered serious, Kingston Police reported.

Marks 50 Years As BSA Troop

Boy Scout Troop 6 marked its 50th anniversary in Kingston recently with annual charter presentation ceremonies at the First Baptist Church.

Troop Committee Chairman Sherwood Lasher, after briefly outlining the history of the unit, presented the Charter to outgoing Scoutmaster Edward Safford in the absence of the present unit leader William Zacher Jr. The troop is making plans for a 50th anniversary reunion in early September.

A court of honor ceremony was highlighted by the presentation of service pins. Personal Fitness merit badges were awarded to Bruce Berryann and Frank Korzikowski. As the new registration cards were passed out each scout received a gold cloth bar to be sewn onto his uniform above the troop numeral designating membership with a fifty-year veteran unit. William W. Brady, a committeeman with the troop since its inception half a century ago announced that this past Sunday at the First Baptist Church special recognition was given to Bruce Berryann and David Berryann for earning the God and Country Award.

Children of Glassboro Are Impartial, Cheer Kosygin

By LEE LINDER

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — The kids of Glassboro are impartial. They cheered Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin Friday loud and clear. They whistled and yelled for President Johnson.

When the leaders of the world's two most powerful nations passed to chat and shake hands with a few in the crowd at the historic summit meeting, there were squeals of childish delight.

Little hands offered the Russian a box of strawberries. They held aloft banners bearing slogans such as, "All the way with LBJ."

Dr. Robert R. Spillane, superintendent of Glassboro schools, said he wasn't surprised at the sagacity of his boys and girls.

Our youngsters are more aware of the world situation than we give them credit for," he said. "They respect the Russian premier for his position in the world, and that's why they cheered him—to make him welcome here."

On Sunday when Kosygin and Johnson return, for the second session of their meeting at Holybush—the 118-year-old sandstone mansion of President

Thomas E. Robinson of Glassboro State College—Johnson likely will be greeted by the town's 86-member high school band.

"If the Secret Service permits it," said Spillane, "they'll be playing when Johnson steps out of his helicopter."

What marked this summit conference was the complete lack of animosity. There were no pickets, no antiwar or anti-Communist demonstrations, no signs of dissent. All the banners and posters expressed a hope for

Alerts Public To Building Code Proposal

W. Wendell Heilman, Poughkeepsie attorney who has held a variety of legislative counsel posts today alerted the public to a proposed amendment to a state code governing public buildings.

He said that under the proposed amendment, low or high pressure boilers, capable of generating 75 or more boiler horsepower would require a licensed boiler operating engineer to be on duty when the boiler is in operation.

He noted the cost of such coverage would be staggering, particularly for non-profit organizations such as churches, community centers, schools and governmental buildings.

A public hearing will be held Monday 2 p. m. at Room 1902, 11 North Pearl Street, Albany. He urged those not able to attend to write Board of Standards and Appeals at that address. Deadline is July 15, he said.

Boys Near Truck

At 3:15 a. m. Friday Deputy Sheriff Robert Jordan, while on patrol, observed a panel truck off the road near the Mt. Marion Inn. Three boys were observed running from the scene and disappeared in the woods. The car owner, C. D. Robinson of Port Ewen, was notified. State Police were summoned to assist in the search of the woods. The boys were not located.

peace in the world and said Americans want nothing else.

This is a middle-class suburban college community, but very few college students were around Glassboro State has finished its spring semester and summer school doesn't begin until Monday.

The kids were out in force, however, climbing trees and to the tops of trucks. Mothers were there too, many carrying bottles feeding infants. They stood in the sun, perspiring and burning a little, hoping to see a bit of history.

It was like a holiday crowd on a summer picnic. They bought ice cream on a stick and soda pop, balloons and toy planes.

Women wore shorts, men light slacks and sports shirts. Some kids weaved through the milling people on bikes and skates.

When Johnson strolled around in front of Holybush, waiting for Kosygin's arrival, he walked to the edge of a slight knoll where a woman standing in the roadway tossed him a small bouquet of red roses.

The President caught it like a bride, then handed it to Mrs. Richard J. Hughes, wife of New Jersey's governor.

She gave it back with a smile and Johnson then, with a little bow, presented it to Mrs. Robinson, wife of the college president and hostess for the meeting.

It was that kind of day—friendly all the way.

3 Persons Are Hurt In Thruway Mishap

Three persons were injured at 2 p. m. Friday when the car in which they were riding went out of control and overturned on the center mall on the State Thruway near mile post 83, Town of Rosendale.

State Trooper R. J. Reilly said the vehicle was operated by William Keller, 40, of Valley Stream, when a tire blew out causing him to lose control.

Keller sustained injuries of the shoulder and complained of chest pains. His son, William Keller, Jr., 12, received lacerations of a finger and left elbow. Another passenger, Armando Elisogno, 34, of Hempstead, L. I., suffered bruises of the shoulder. He also complained of chest pains.

The injured were treated at Benedictine Hospital.

Bitten by Rat

Donna Coumbes of Second Street, Connelly, reported Wednesday to the sheriff's office that her three-year-old daughter had been bitten by a rat in the yard of their home.

Mrs. Coumbes reported the rat appeared "half dead" at the time the child was bitten. The rat was placed in a bag and the SPCA notified. The child was attended by a physician. Deputy Sheriff Marshall Conosa was assigned to investigate.

Check Mischief

The sheriff's department is investigating an act of malicious mischief which was reported on Wednesday at East Kingston off Route 32 near the school. Taken from the recreation pavilion was a string of electric lights of between 24 and 36 lights. Also missing were two dozen electric light bulbs. Deputy Sheriff Harold Dohnken and Newnam are continuing the investigation.

Awards Given At Dog Club Dinner Fete

The 10th annual dinner of the Ulster Dog Training Club, Inc. held recently at the Skytop Restaurant was largely attended by members and guests. Dinner chairman was Mary McDonald assisted by Eileen Savage.

Brother Thomas Larkin of the Christian Brothers was guest speaker. He spoke about Lincoln Hall, home for delinquent boys at Lindendale. The boys come to Lincoln Hall from New York City courts, sullen, defiant and withdrawn and often see the Brothers as "authority" against which they rebel.

Three days after their arrival they are assigned to cottages and here they find their first friend—a dog. "The dogs at Lincoln Hall lead the boys to the meaning of friendship and a boy soon finds himself taking pleasure in human friends," Brother Larkin said. The Lincoln Hall Boys Glee Club under the direction of Brother Luke gave a concert after dinner.

Kay Seitz, director of training, presented special awards to club members who have won degrees with their dogs throughout the year.

Companion Dog Degrees went to Lucille Winter with standard poodle; Mildred Koschka with Irish wolfhound; John VanKleeck with miniature poodle; Joyce Rockwell with Shetland sheepdog; Bonnie Joan Fay with Shetland sheepdog; Winona Wynkoop with Shetland sheepdog; Galina Samoilova with Shetland sheepdog and Utility Degree, the first in the club, went to Joyce Rockwell and Shetland sheepdog, Silly.

A special award went to Eleanor Singer's German shepherd, Shasta, who rings doorbell to let in the house.

Mrs. Edna Wilson presented special awards to Kay Seitz, Donald Savavage, Sheridan Guilfoyle, Mary McDonald and Marie Sanford for their dedication, and years of service to the club.

Two Upstate GI's Killed in Viet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Army lieutenant and a Marine lance corporal, both from New York State, were among those killed in action this week in Vietnam, the Defense Department says.

First Lt. Jerry F. Clark, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark of Chateaugay, was killed Wednesday night by an exploding land mine.

MARINE Lance Cpl. Wayne D. Karn, 20, of West Seneca, Near Buffalo, was killed Tuesday by rifle fire near Quang Nam.

Clark was a 1965 graduate of West Point. He had been in Vietnam since December and was killed while leading a reconnaissance unit of the Army's 25th Infantry.

Karn was a 1961 graduate of the high school in Chateaugay, which is northeast of Malone. Karn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Karn, was married last August to the former Linda Agthe of West Seneca.

He was drafted in March 1966 and had been in Vietnam for about six weeks.

Not at Address

The Freeman was notified today that Alvin Collins, who figured in a recent county court case, does not live at 47 St. James Street, as was reported this week.

Johnson and Soviet Premier Agree on Peace for Future

By BILL BOYARSKY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Johnson says he reached no new agreements with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin but "he and I agreed that we wanted a world of peace for our grandchildren."

The President reported on his historic summit meeting in a speech to a 500-a-plate Democratic party fund-raising affair Friday night, just a few hours after he left Kosygin at Glassboro, N.J.

Outside the hotel where he spoke, lines of club-holding police clashed with thousands of anti-Vietnam war demonstrators.

Thirty were arrested and several were injured as officers cleared the crowd from the street.

Johnson, who came in through a rear basement entrance, did not see any of the estimated 10,000 demonstrators who marched from a nearby park.

Dressed in a white dinner jacket and blue shirt, the President enthusiastically greeted California leaders, he and star-studded entertainment featuring comedian Jack Benny, then reported on his meeting with Kosygin.

"We reached no new agreements," he said — then departed from his prepared text to add the words "almost, but not quite," he did not elaborate. He said he looks forward to meeting with Kosygin again Sunday.

"It is good to sit down and look a man in the eye and try to reason with him and to have him reason with you," Johnson said. "Reasoning together was the spirit of Holybush."

That was the name of the house in which Johnson and Kosygin met.

Johnson said he and the premier discussed the Middle East, Southeast Asia, the possibility of new agreements in the arms race, and "the need for a common action on constructive initiatives for peace."

Johnson said agreements do not come "in a single conversation, but I think we understand each other better, and I was able to make it very clear indeed that the strength and determination of your country and its government are fully matched by our persistent eagerness to talk and work for peace and friendship with all who will work for us."

Past summit meetings, he said, "have not ended our troubles. I cannot promise you that that will not happen again. The world remains small and dangerous and all nations — even the greatest — have hard and painful choices ahead of them."

District Attorney To Attend Parley

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca will be attending a conference at Onondaga County District Attorney Frank A. Gualtieri Jr., for the purpose of discussing crime control and prevention.

The meeting will be held at Clary Junior High School, 4942 South Salina Street, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

This is the first of Upstate meetings to be held in New York at the suggestion of the National Crime Commission to discuss and stimulate interest in the control of crime. It is expected some 700 delegates will attend the meeting.

Alertness Helps Nab Teeners, Stolen Auto

Alertness of a service station operator at Hurley Friday led to the apprehension of two juveniles from New Jersey and recovery of a stolen car.

Trooper David Wachtel said Granville Turner, proprietor of the Hurley Gulf Station, called the Kingston State Police substation and reported two suspicious acting juveniles in a New Jersey registered 1965 car were at his station.

Troopers Harry Foster and Robert Mackey investigated and picked up the youths, who gave birthdates indicating they were 15 years of age. Troopers believe they are older.

New Jersey authorities were notified and reported the car had been stolen Thursday night at Trenton, N. J. It belongs to Irene Fitzgerald, Rochelle Park, N. J. Trooper Wachtel said. A number of articles, believed stolen, were found in the vehicle. The juveniles were detained until arrival of authorities from Trenton.

Truck Driver Cited

Ray Ormiston, 39, of Carthage, narrowly escaped injury at 12:15 a. m. today when a tractor-trailer he was driving went out of control on a curve, veered off Route 145, Town of Durham, and overturned down an embankment.

Trooper E. E. LaPlante of Leeds said Ormiston was driving the milk tanker east and negotiating a right curve when the vehicle jackknifed. Troopers Vincent Barzaro and William Fitzmaurice cited Ormiston for failure to keep to the right.

The summons is returnable before Justice of the Peace Timothy Conway.

UNDERPASS DAMAGE — This section of Broadway at the underpass must be torn up and repaved after contractors correct the condition caused by flooding that resulted after the Thursday torrential rains. The pavement is undamaged. Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan estimated the project will cost about $50,000. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Minnesota Climber Injured in Plunge

A 27-year-old mountain climber from Minnesota was seriously injured at 4:30 p. m. Friday, when he plunged down a 30-foot cliff at Lake Minnetonka, according to State Trooper John Cordell of Highland.

An investigation report by Trooper Robert Whalen, said Charles Myers, of Coon Rapids, Minn., was accompanied by his wife Marilee on the climb. He lost his hold and fell from a rock ledge, authorities said. Myers was taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. He suffered a fractured spine and other injuries.

THE COLORFUL WORLD OF ENTERTAINMENT

FULL WEEK'S TV LISTINGS FOR WEEK OF JUNE 25th THRU JULY 1st

"The Virginian" rides into its sixth season on NBC, with two of the original cast in the saddle: James Drury as the Virginian and Doug McClure as Trampas, his sidekick. Other principals: Charles Bickford, Clu Gulager, Sara Lane and Don Quine.

'Virginian' Outrides All but Two of Original Cast Into 6th Year

JAMES DRURY, CHARLES BICKFORD and DON QUINE rustle a little cow talk during takes for "The Virginian", NBC's 6th Season western, filling its usual 7:30-9 p. m. spot Wednesdays.

HOLLYWOOD

By EDGAR PENTON

Just six years ago, television's first feature-length series premiered. It was a start that was at least as rough as the terrain it graphically depicted—or the people it characterized. Ninety minutes long, "The Virginian" was picked by the industry oddsmakers as the season's great disaster.

These voices of doom gave as their reasoning that the extreme difficulty of producing a feature a week would make it impossible to meet air dates, let alone achieve any quality in the series.

When it premiered, the critics, in turn, gave the show a good, old-fashioned Western barbecuing, predicting its imminent death from being too long.

Roughly 150 feature-length pictures later, "The Virginian" rides into its sixth season on NBC television, stronger than ever. With the series knocking on the door of the top-10, the oddsmakers have quit making odds.

Only two of the original six series stars are still with the show: James Drury as The Virginian and Doug McClure as his sometimes stubborn sidekick, Trampas. Fourteen persons have had continuing roles since the show first aired. The original stars were Lee J. Cobb, Drury, McClure, Pippa Scott, Gary Clarke and Roberta Shore.

Today they're Charles Bickford, Drury, McClure, Clu Gulager, Don Quine and Sara Lane.

The series has also alternated producers and executive producers at Universal City Studios with almost as much regularity as the cast. This year, veteran Western producer Norman Macdonnell is again holding the reins, as he did two years ago.

Macdonnell, who co-created and produced "Gunsmoke!" for many seasons on both radio and television is, in turn, staffed with four full-fledged producers, Winston Miller, Joel Rogosin, Cy Chermak and David Levinson.

It takes the five of them, working 12 to 14 hour days and often on weekends, to make "The Virginian" work at all, so complex are production problems.

Macdonnell maintains that "loving care" has been the underlying watchword.

He says, "You HAVE to love it, or else you'll break under the strain and end up hating it."

Although producers have been alternated on and off the series, there is none at Universal who will speak unkindly of it. On the contrary, they consider it "their big baby."

The question remains: Why has "The Virginian" succeeded—especially with changes in cast, producers and other production personnel? Macdonnell says it has to do with both story and real-life characters:

"Each week we try to tell a fully-developed story about real-life human beings with whom the audience can identify. We try to put a huge amount of emphasis on the values of reason, courage, loyalty and decency in relationships between people. The public, I feel, is yearning for such values in today's confused and confusing world."

Waiting at the station to greet you for the sixth season of "THE VIRGINIAN" on NBC, JAMES DRURY, SARA LANE, CHARLES BICKFORD & DON QUINE. The 90 minute western maintains its Wednesday evening time spot in the new season.

It is collectively agreed that the series' mainstay is its intricate system of values—the values which had to exist in order for society and civilization to develop in our frontier times. Purposefully, the time was set in the 1880s, after the West had gained at least a measure of respectability. The main characters, as well as those who inhabit Medicine Bow, Wyo., are the kind of people who really built the West, not those who would have destroyed it.

Medicine Bow is a nice, quiet town trying to make something of itself. There are no lynch mobs and no daily gunfights in the street. Shiloh Ranch, now owned by Cattle Baron John Grainger (Charles Bickford), is a respectable spread inhabited by solid, decent people.

"The conflict," Macdonnell states, "arises when these people are confronted with a real-life problem that they have never met before, and their attempt to find its solution. Even when this is a problem within themselves, the outcome is often an exciting piece of drama."

The producer looks upon his show as a sort of "specialized Western"—one which maintains all of the classic ingredients of heroism, cowardice, romance and adventure, yet one which has never allowed one of these ingredients to get out of hand.

James Drury, the title star, agrees. "When I first started out with the show," the broad-shouldered actor says, "I wanted to 'punch up' every line, every sequence. Now I've come to discover that the secret to the show is economy—underplaying the part. Our sixteen-plus writers have put the drama there—the job I do is simply let the drama play out... give the story 'its head.'"

And what of the new season coming up?

The broad scope of "The Virginian," says Macdonnell, will remain unchanged. The show will again be filled with the vast openness that only exterior locations throughout Southern California back country and big production can effect.

To sum up, Macdonnell says he believes that much of the series' popularity has stemmed from an audience awareness that "The Virginian" is THE Western.

Owen Wister's book back in 1903 created the romantic western story. Before "The Virginian," only dime novels dealt with the West—and that was a sensationalized West filled with glorified outlaws and killers.

Wister, in his travels throughout Wyoming, gathered the background and material that enabled him to create a new romantic character, the knight of the plains, the cowboy.

Wister's was an idealized image, Macdonnell feels, but there is no doubt that in "The Virginian" he created a folklore figure that has captured the imagination of the public throughout the world ever since.

"When you've got this kind of material as a foundation for a series," Macdonnell says, "how can you miss?"

Susskind's Guest List

The following topics will be discussed on "The David Susskind Show," to be aired in color Sunday, June 25, from 10 to 12 p. m. over WNEW-TV (Channel 5).

1. "Jet Jitters: Are You Afraid to Fly?"—Two veteran pilots, Gale Kehmeier and Captain Vernon Lowell (author of the book, "Airline Safety is a Myth"), will discuss what they believe are unnecessary flying hazards caused by careless inspections, heavy air traffic, and failure to use available safety devices. Charges made by the pilots will be answered by: Walter Ferrari, vice president of flight operations for Mohawk Airlines; Congressman John Dingell (D., Mich.), member of the House Sub-Committee on Transportation; and James Pyle, deputy administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency.

2. "I Married an Astronaut: Mrs. Rene Carpenter"—Rene (Mrs. Scott) Carpenter makes a return appearance to continue her discussion about the fascinating and diversified life she leads as a syndicated columnist, mother of four, and wife of a famous astronaut.

(Time change due to special program, 8:30-10)

Much Too Realistic

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor James Coburn—known to movie buffs as Our Man Flint, the karate chopping nemesis of enemy spies—stands ready for his scene. Lights! Camera! Action! Flint takes off up McDougal Street in Greenwich Village as the cameras grind and two Chinese agents pound in pursuit. The only question is how our hero will befuddle his foes.

Or is it? Enter Patrolmen Melvin Schwartz and David Mahan, unaware that the fleeing Flint is only filming a scene. Schwartz reaches out an arm and—CRASH! Cut! Cut! Cut!

A police sergeant assigned to the film scene Wednesday night rushes up with the city's apologies to Coburn. The startled Schwartz had assumed he was stopping some mischief.

Coburn, 39, suffered two small cuts on his face, and a Paramount Pictures spokesman said the filming probably would be delayed a day to let the star's wounds heal.

Guess Who?

Richard Dunlap, who produced The Emmy Awards telecast, says he and everyone else he knows is bored with the "envelope, please" routine. But, after a two-hour production meeting trying to figure out a substitute, they decided the public likes the secrecy, the suspense and the surprise. Even so, he's trying to think up some wild ideas to eliminate the line in the future.

Tea, Anyone?

Because of the time difference, people attending The Emmy Awards in New York eat before the awards. But in Hollywood they eat after. For this reason, director Richard Dunlap says, the audience in Hollywood is tougher to quiet down. "They're both thirsty and hungry, while in New York they are more relaxed."

See Heart Transplant Ch. 5 Sunday, June 25

WNEW-TV (Channel 5) will present the first telecast of an operation to implant a replacement for a diseased section of the human heart.

The special color program titled "Miracle in OR-5" will be narrated by Alexander Scourby, written and produced by Harold Mantell and presented on Sunday, June 25, from 8:30-10 p. m. in cooperation with the New York Heart Association. The program will be sponsored by the CIBA Pharmaceutical Company.

The operation was performed in May at the Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the Center's Director of Surgical Services.

Leading a team of surgeons, Dr. Kantrowitz successfully removed a section of diseased aorta and replaced it with a manufactured part. The procedure, performed on a middle-aged female patient, took nearly ten hours to complete. The entire operation was videotaped by a WNEW-TV camera crew stationed in the operating room and has been edited to 90 minutes for its presentation on June 25.

In addition to Mr. Scourby's narration, the voices of Dr. Kantrowitz and his associates will also be heard as they operate.

The CIBA Pharmaceutical Company of Summit, N.J., is sponsoring the telecast on Metro-media's TV stations in New York, Los Angeles, Washington and Kansas City. CIBA Pharmaceutical is a division of the world-wide chemical firm of CIBA, Ltd.

Sponsorship of "Miracle in OR-5," marks the company's second venture in the presentation of surgery on television. Several years ago, CIBA sponsored a telecast of open-heart surgery in California.

In commenting on sponsorship of "Miracle in OR-5," Charles T. Silloway, PPresident of CIBA, said:

"We're proud to bring this remarkable program to the public. The dramatic, life-saving surgery by Dr. Kantrowitz and his associates is an outstanding achievement in medical science, which we at CIBA are proud to recognize, as members of our national health team and as a company whose research into the cardiovascular area has been extensive.

Dr. Kantrowitz noted that "heat and cardiovascular disease are the number one killers and are increasing. Surgical techniques like the one we employ in this operation are at present a major means of attacking heart and cardiovascular disease.

"We believe an informed public should be able to gain the closest possible understanding of the problems involved in performing a critical procedure such as the replacement of this patient's descending aorta with an artificial one.

"Only through color videotape continuously monitoring the operation from start to finish are we able at this point to give the public the heightened understanding it must have in order to support increased heart research on a scale commensurate with the national problem."

The Executive Producer for "Miracle in OR-5" is Mel Bailey, vice president and program director of WNEW-TV. The program was produced and written by Harold Mantell, and directed by Arthur Forrest.

Jessel Bright Spot of Dino's Summer Spot

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Like I keep telling them down at the office, there's no substitute for experience.

Thursday night launched the lengthily titled "The Dean Martin Summer Show Starring Your Host Vic Damone." Though brimming with bright young talent, its gayest moments came in a "Tonight"-style interview with George Jessel, 69.

"I've been in show business long enough to be governor of California 15 times," Jessel crowed. He recalled his reply when told he must be in his late 50s: "I've got ties older than that."

Regular brighteners on the 12-week variety series include leggy beauty Carol Lawrence and song belter Gail Martin, Dean's 21-year-old daughter. Joining them and Damone on the opener were the team of Clair and McMahon, in a screaming-comedy bit, and The Curtain Calls, a talented, hard-working song-and-dance trio.

Another guest was professional golfer-singer Don Cherry, who isn't as pretty as Damone but sings a song with more warmth.

Conclusion on the two editions we've had of the Steve Allen comedy hour. The short sketches are funny; the long ones sag. This Wednesday Steve's wife Jayne Meadows, wearing curls like all the shavings in the carpenter shop, tried to sustain as mistress of ceremonies a spotty, tedious parody of a male beauty contest.

But the quickies—Steve emerging from a 100-year freeze, Steve as a magician creating a banana through reversed film—were a delight.

Elsewhere amid the reruns and junk were some other worthwhile items: CBS's in-depth study of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and NBC's stimulating documentary on "The Learning Process." Did those sixth-graders doing math outsmart you, too?

Sunday: Abba Eban, Israeli foreign minister, on "Meet the

Sunday, June 25

9-11 (ABC) — The Sunday Night Movie presents "Of Human Bondage," an adaptation of the W. Somerset Maugham classic starring Lawrence Harvey and Kim Novak with Siobhan McKenna and Robert Morley. (Repeat)

10-11 (NBC) — The Saint star, Roger Moore, gets involved with a nun wearing spike heel shoes while investigating the mystery of a stolen airplane.

10-11 (CBS) — CBS News Inquiry is Part 1 in a four-part series on "The Warren Commission Report." The hourly telecasts will be seen June 25, 26, 27 and 28 and will examine major questions by critics of the official report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Press," NBC, 4:30 p.m. Jordan's King Hussein on "Issues and Answers," ABC, 3 p.m. "The Warren Report," a one-hour CBS news inquiry, 10 p.m.

The latter continues at the same hour Monday through Wednesday nights, examining questions raised by critics of the Warren report. Interviewers will include Dr. Malcolm O. Perry, Dallas surgeon who took charge of treatment when President John F. Kennedy was brought to Parkland Memorial Hospital fatally shot.

Ask TV Scout

NAME DROPPER — I have a friend whose last name is Douglas and she says that she is related to Kirk Douglas. But it seems to me that I read some time ago that Douglas is just a stage name. Is that true and if so what is his real name? — L. T., Miami, Fla.

You're quite right. The actor changed his name to Kirk Douglas from Issur Danielovitch.

FEAR NOT — Now that The Fugitive is going off what will happen to David Janssen? I think it is original to take such a fine actor off TV. Will we ever see him again? — Jane Sloan, Duluth, Minn.

Have no fear, the moguls of the motion picture and television industries are not going to let a talent like Janssen lie dormant. The star has more offers than he can handle and is going through a picking and choosing process as to what he will do next. A feature film is first on the books.

FEATURE FIRST — Don Knotts played a very funny cowboy in a Chrysler Theater show this year and we have been told he may do a series based on the same idea. Do you know anything about that? — O. C., Great Falls, Mont.

There was talk of a series but the movies beat TV to the punch. Don will first film "The Shaggiest Gun in the West," in which he plays a nervous dentist who gets mixed up with outlaws and the law.

A Constant Search for Something Different

By STAN MAAYS

HOLLYWOOD—David Levy, former NBC-TV vice president, advertising executive, producer, program developer (Addams Family, Phyllis Diller, Double Life of Henry Phye, etc.), has signed for a co-production deal with 20th Century-Fox TV to develop a one-hour dramatic series for the 1968-69 season.

That announcement recalled a comment made by Levy regarding the state of TV programming. He said:

"I've driven through a coal mining town in the East and looked up at all those antennas on roofs. And I thought to myself, what if I were to put on the type of series I'd really love to do, something highly dramatic, like the love stories of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Who'd watch it? Why, I'd drive them out of the house."

Like so many others in the business, Levy admits, "We are trapped by the basic taste of the public."

But he points an accusing finger at the merchandisers as a major contributor to TV's ills. Those tie-in ads with various TV series offer glaring affirmation.

The era of the one of a kind show has passed, Levy maintains. He fondly recalls his accomplishments during three years as head of programming at NBC-TV. He had a hand in bringing to TV such shows as Walt Disney's series, Car 54, the Dick Powell anthology series, International Showtime and Sing Along With Mitch.

"Not too long ago I talked to two of the toughest agents in town," reports Levy, "and these are men who are no unaware of what makes a good show. You know what they told me when I suggested something unique as a series? 'Dave,' they said, 'get yourself another Phye.'"

Henry Phye, an ill-fated "second season" casualty, starred Red Buttons, and at the time was following the spy trend.

"Timing is the important commodity," says Levy, in explaining the failure of Phye. He had the series ready to go, but was held off by network brass. Then Man From U.N.C.L.E. beat him to the starting gate.

"The TV business is much like

the auto business today," he reflects "if a new, radical design is too much of a gamble, you just sit on it a while. But then you also run the risk of waiting too long!"

The viewing public has been conditioned into believing that something has got to be happening at all times on the screen.

"Unfortunately," Levy sadly nods, "special effects has replaced a lot of fine writing."

But David Levy hasn't joined the herd, and out of his new pact at 20th might emerge that "something highly dramatic" he longs to do.

We can only hope so.

Kaye's Self-conscious

Kaye Ballard, who costars with Eve Arden in The Mothers-in-Law, set for NBC-TV next fall, admits she became a comedienne out of self-consciousness.

"As a child I would pretend I was Bette Davis or Barbara Stanwyck but when I got out into my teens and saw how I looked, I became very self-conscious about it. And when I graduated from high school, I finally realized I wasn't pretty enough for leading lady roles, so I turned to comedy. My present style of comedy is based on this self-consciousness."

An Enigma of Exception

By FRANK LANGLEY

NEW YORK—If there is one thing in this world for which Hollywood will never be noted, it is as a breeding ground of innocence.

Of course, there are exceptions for everything and Kathy Garver is the exception for Hollywood's indisputable reputation.

"People are always telling me I'm different," the 18-year-old star of the CBS-TV Family Affair series, said during a recent New York visit.

"And I really don't understand why. Unless you're different today if you just want to be yourself.

Kathy is indeed different, not for being what she is—a simple, sincere and uncomplicated teenager—but for what she is not.

Kathy was born in Long Beach and raised in Los Angeles, began her show business career at age eight and has a long list of television and motion picture credits.

With that sort of background, one would expect some sort of pseudo sophistication to have seeped into her personality and character, but none has.

Kathy is an enigma, both as a Hollywood star and as a teen-ager.

She listens intently to adult conversation, hoping to learn; she does not believe she knows more than you or I; she does not wear sun glasses in dark restaurants or on top of her head; nor does she iron her hair, cover her legs with material used to catch cod fish or wear the styles of the bulging buttocks and bare thigh set.

"I don't think there is anything so terrible in what the other kids do, except the extremists," she said. "And I also don't think that just because they are doing those things, that I have to do them too."

Kathy is quite unaffected in her likes and dislikes. Most well-beeled young Hollywoodites spend their New York visits hopping from Broadway shows, to Fifth Avenue salons to plush and popular night spots. Not so Kathy.

"The thing I adore most about coming East," Kathy said, "is the trees.

"When I'm here I stay with my sister in Westchester (a New York suburb), and I just love walking through the woods up there. I really like Los Angeles too, but we don't have anything so beautiful and natural out there."

As to her social life, Kathy often dates but romance has yet to enter her life.

"Quite a few of my friends tell me I should get my own apartment and do more social mixing.

"But I prefer living at home with my folks. I think most young girls who take their own places, let their social life become their whole life.

"And I'm not too sure that that is such a good way to live."

CBS-TV'S Inside Gag

There is a running inside gag in Mannix, CBS-TV's new detective series set for autumn. Joe Campanella plays the boss of Mannix (Mike Connors). Campanella's character, Lew Wickersham, is a sharp dresser who has a neat office and who wants everyone around him to dress like he does. Connors, as Mannix, is sloppy and has a messy office.

Now here's where the gag enters the picture. In Hollywood, Lew Wasserman, the president of MCA which owns Universal, is noted for being a sharp dresser, having a neat office and wanting everyone at Universal to dress like he does. Universal is located on Lankersham Boulevard. Lew Wasserman and Lankersham have become Campanella's character, Lew Wickersham.

Oh yes, the series is filmed at Desilu. They would never get away with it at Universal.

'Miss Wool' Pageant

Donald O'Connor and singing star Jane Morgan will add their multiple talents to an array of beautiful girls and far-out fashions when they co-host "The Miss Wool of America Pageant," in color Friday, June 30, from 9 to 10 P. M. over WNEU-TV (Channel 5).

The program, originating live from San Angelo, Texas, will feature fashions of the "Electronic Age" from the fall collections of Bill Blass, Harvey Berin, Teal Traina Jr. Sophisticates, and others.

Twenty young college girls—Miss Wool finalists from regional contests covering 48 states — are participating in this year's Miss Wool Pageant.

The winner, selected on the basis of natural beauty, poise, and fashion flair, will receive her crown from Governor John Connally of Texas.

In addition to singing some of her current hit songs, co-hostess Jane Morgan will provide fashion commentary as the Miss Wool contestants model the "Twenty Top Looks for Fall" in a preview of fashions never before seen by the public or press.

Music for Mr. O'Connor's and Miss Morgan's numbers will be provided by Glenn Osser and his orchestra. "The Miss Wool of America Pageant" is produced by Alexander Cantwell, and is being carried by a coast-to-coast network of stations.

CHANNEL CHATTER

Star Treatment

Leonard Nimoy, as a result of his role in Star Trek, finds himself getting the star treatment everywhere he goes. He pulls the most mail on the show. He's been asked to make guest appearances at record stores as a result of an album he has made. He also appeared on a local radio show in which listeners phone in questions. Most of those who called him were kids. Sample questions and answers: Q—"Does Mr. Spock have any brothers or sisters?" A—"What's a brother?" Q—"What's a Venutian woman like?" A—"It depends on whether she is a blonde or a redhead." Q—"How does Spock get into character?" A—"He steps out of a refrigerator."

Seeks Asylum

Woody Allen says that after a week of the Tonight show, during which viewers got their fill of his corduroy suit his tailor "had to seek asylum in the Polish embassy."

Elizabeth 'Unbewitched'

Insiders at Screen Gems, where Bewitched is filmed, say that Elizabeth Montgomery and Agnes Moorehead don't get along. So it was a particularly gratifying moment for Miss Moorehead when she got her Emmy. More so because Miss Montgomery was the presenter.

The work schedule on Bewitched is so difficult that Agnes found it hard to do anything else. She is particularly fond of doing one-night dramatic readings, but this became impossible. So when she was finally able to break away and do something, it was the episode of The Wild, Wild West that won her the Emmy.

A Woman's Scorn

Roger Moore has learned first hand the fury of a woman scorned. An episode of The Saint called for an actress to slap his face. She slapped him so hard she knocked him out of camera range. On a retake, she delivered a second hard slap. Then he discovered that she had broken up with her gentleman friend the night before, and was taking her anger out on Roger.

Infrequent Appearance

It look as if Noel Coward will be making a very infrequent TV appearance in the musical version of Androcles and the Lion, which Richard Rodgers is doing for NBC-TV next season. Set to appear with Coward is British star Norman Wisdom, who was nominated for a Tony for his performance on Broadway in the musical "Walking Happy."

Antics A Problem

Jean Simmons appears opposite Dick Van Dyke and Jason Robards in the movie "Divorce, American Style," and she said the antics of the two men gave her a terrible problem. "One is not supposed to laugh, but one is twitching all the time."

TV Star Michael Sarrazin Sparks Flim-Flam Man

By JOAN CROSSBY

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (NEA)

It's early afternoon in this beautiful Blue Grass country which breeds some of the world's most famous race horses.

The young man with the long, wavy hair, light blue eyes and incredibly long lashes is seated with his back against the wall, answering questions—the same ones—over and over. His nervousness is apparent only by the frequency with which he lights cigarettes and shifts positions in his chair.

He doesn't know the people who are questioning him, and he is unknown to them. He's going through something which makes seasoned performers on night crawlers for bait. You nervous: a mass press interview. And he is handling himself with humility and humor.

His name is Michael Sarrazin, and the people who are experts in such matters predict he will be a big movie star. He costars with George C. Scott in "The Flim-Flam Man," and 20th Century-Fox, which produced the film, has brought him and the press to Lexington for a premiere of the picture, shot mostly in this area.

It's learned that the few appearances Michael has made in this country were on television.

He's under contract to Universal, which cast him in "Doomsday Flight," a movie made for World Premiere, in a segment of The Virginian in which he played a frontier psychopath, and from? "What else have you opposite Cliff Robertson in done?" "How old are you?" "Verdict For Terror" on Bob "Are you Married?"

Hope Presents the Chrysler Theatre. He also has a four-picture deal with 20th Century-Fox.

In his native Canada (he was born in Quebec City and raised in Montreal. His father is presently sheriff of Montreal) he has had extensive stage and television experience. He maintained his home in Toronto until last fall, when he began filming "The Flim-Flam Man" in Kentucky. Then he went to California and acquired a home in Malibu.

The press drifts in gradually for the interview, and talks in turn to Larry Truman, the youthful-looking producer; Irvin Kershner, the bearded director; Slim Pickens, also in the cast; and Sarrazin.

The basic facts of Michael's 26 years on earth are established. His credits are itemized. "Yes, I have made other movies. There's one called 'Gunfight at Abilene' that has been released as a third feature somewhere. And I've done another western called 'Journey to Shiloh' for Universal. I must look good on a horse," he says.

He's asked if he would like to go back and work in Canada. "Yes, I'd love to go back to the stage. But I have not been asked because people get the wrong idea that I'm not available and they say, 'Oh, he's in Hollywood.'"

He's asked about other jobs he has held. "Well, for awhile I was a worm picker. What's that? Someone who works all night on a golf course picking up night crawlers for bait. You blind them with a flashlight, then grab them. I don't remember what I got paid—something like $1.50 for 1,000."

He's asked if he's married or about to be. "No, I'm not," he says politely. He turns away a bit and says, "I don't like questions like that."

His acting philosophy is revealed: "Now that I'm over the hurdle of the first good role, people know I'm an actor. Now I hope the work I turn out is something I can be proud of—not only my performance, but also the material itself."

While all this is being established, other members of the press come over and join in. But they haven't heard what has gone before, so questions are repeated: "Where are you ed a frontier psychopath, and from?" "What else have you opposite Cliff Robertson in done?" "How old are you?" "Verdict For Terror" on Bob "Are you Married?"

Expo's Show Judged Far Short of New York's

By DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

MONTREAL (NEA) — The tendency to root for the underdog has colored the critical reception of Montreal's Expo 67. Many people, apparently, were hopeful that little Montreal could show big New York how a World's Fair should look. They let their emotions lead their judgment.

In all fairness, Expo 67 is a good fair, blessed by a beautiful setting and outstanding architecture. But, emotions aside, it isn't in the same league as the New York World's Fair as far as a show is concerned.

There is nothing here to compare with some of the industrial exhibits at New York—the Ford, GM, General Electric, Pepsi-Cola exhibits, for example. There are some fascinating films in some of the national pavilions — Czechoslovakia, primarily — and the structures themselves are magnificent.

But mostly the pavilions are a parade of national pride, of interest mostly to those who want to compare the kilowatt output of Brazil and Italy or the types of fertilizer used in Belgium and India.

"On the right," the guide said, "is the U.S. pavilion, where you can see the world's largest escalator, an Academy Award film and Elvis Presley's guitar."

That gives you a rough idea about what we have to offer in our big store, housed in the fair's most imaginative building. It is a dome which always manages to sparkle in the sun, no matter from where it is viewed.

"It certainly wouldn't be on the right," said Arthur O'Connell. He was one of the group of Screen Gems stars who were visiting Expo, as part of a four-city Canadian tour.

The Kuwait pavilion was closed, that Middle Eastern nation reacting to Canada's support of Israel in the crisis.

"I've played all through the Middle East," said Agnes Moorehead, Bewitched's witch-in-law. "The Arabs never say what they mean. They say what they think you want to hear. Once, in Cairo, I said, 'Oh, I wish there was a 10 o'clock plane.' And the Arab at the airport said, 'There is a 10 o'clock plane.' There wasn't a 10 o'clock plane at all, but he thought that's what I wanted to hear."

In the Russian boutique, some of us watched a woman, leading a child, ask the clerk if she were Russian.

"No, I'm Canadian," said the clerk. And then she pointed to another clerk "But that one is Russian."

"Look, Bobby," the woman said to her son, "there's a real Russian."

Perhaps seeing real Russians is enough to make Expo 67 a success. It would seem so. The attendance is running far ahead of estimates—more than 8 million at a time when the forecasts predicted 5 million. And there have been 10 times as many visitors from Europe as expected.

Montreal's new subway, built to link Expo 67 with the city is a pleasure to ride—it is clean and quiet, running as it does on rubber tires. Like all of the province of Quebec, everything in the subway is bilingual — French and English.

I noted in one Montreal bus, however, that there was one exception to that bilinguality. All the ads and signs were in both languages, except for one sign, which read in English only: "Please Move to the Rear." Pourquoi?

Ask TV Scout

PERRY'S FLICKS—Has Perry Como ever made a movie?—A.D., Salisbury, N.C.

Perry made three features, none of which gave him anywhere near the fame of radio and television. They are: Something for the Boys, Doll Face and If I'm Lucky.

DIANA'S DILEMMA—How tall is Diana Rigg of The Avengers and how much does she weigh?—G. W., Duluth, Minn.

Diana stands a tall 5 ft. 8½ in. As to her weight, ABC will say only that it "fluctuates," if you know what that means.

THE SHOW—Phil Silvers had a second series after his successful Sgt. Bilko series. Can you tell us its name?—R.R., Hartford.

The title was highly original, The Phil Silvers Show. To be a little more informative however, it was about a factory command named Harry Crafton, sort of an industrialized Bilko.

Too Serious for Series

NEW YORK—Actress Eileen Heckart has a golden touch and a roomful of acting honors to prove it.

And yet she only rarely lends her touch to television and like many another great theatrical talent, turns thumbs down on any idea of long-term contributions, such as a series.

"The only real attraction is money," she says. And if you don't really care about the money, there is little or no attraction at all.

"Besides, it's a screwball medium and I can tell a few stories to prove that."

In one of her rare television ventures she won an Emmy for her performance in "Save Me A Place At Forest Lawn." She was also nominated for a motion picture Academy Award for her role in "The Bad Seed," and won The Donaldson Award, the Hollywood Foreign Press Award and a Film Daily Citation for the same portrayal.

In addition, she has won the Sylvania Award for "The Haven" on the Goodyear Playhouse and the Variety Poll of New York Drama Critics for the Broadway production of "The Dark of the Top of the Stairs."

She is currently starring in a

Broadway phenomenon, a quartet of one-act plays, titled "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running."

How successful she is in this production is best characterized by a telegram she recently received from a Connecticut neighbor:

"Just traded two top acres for two tickets to your show. See you Tuesday."

Now wouldn't you think that even without ever having seen this actress, that the television moguls would be pounding on her door to have her work for them . . . and us.

Well they are. But she's not answering.

"For one thing," she said, "I would never live in Hollywood. I live in and love Connecticut and I wouldn't think of moving out there."

"Those people live in another world. You can feel it when you get off the plane. It's like waking up into a dream, and I don't buy it."

"Another thing is the screwball operation. I went out there to do one episode in a series and when I got there and they gave me the script, I couldn't believe it."

"What do you think, I was asked."

EILEEN HECKART

"And I answered, 'it stinks.' "It wasn't only a bad script, but it was written by one of the most disreputable directors in Hollywood. And when I told them that the man couldn't write, no less direct, you know what they told me?"

"They said they knew how bad he was but their contract with him ran for two more shows, so they were getting out of it by letting him write and direct just once more. And then they would be done with him."

"And that's when I was done with them."

Buy Bonds where you work.

It's miserable work, crawling through a rice paddy. And being shot at. This American does the job for freedom's sake. So do thousands of his buddies. Many of these brave men also support freedom with their dollars. A majority of our servicemen overseas are investing in U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show this man you're with him? One good way is to buy Savings Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. You'll make a good investment. And you'll walk a bit taller.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years . . . are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen . . . have special tax advantages . . . can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

'Our World' — June 25 Encircles the Globe; First Live Telecast

25—KINGSTON DAILY FREEMAN, JUNE 24, 1967

Elaine Tanner, 16-year-old Canadian multi-medal winner at the British Empire Games, will attempt to beat her own world record in the Butterfly in the Aspiration to Physical Excellence sequence.

Original TV Score by Renowned Composer

A 42-year-old internationally-known film music composer who studied composition and conducting at the Paris Conservatory during the war under Darius Milhaud and was a classmate of Pierre Boulez, wrote the musical score for the first-ever live world television program "Our World."

Georges Delerue, a native of Roubaix, France, whose musical score credits includes the recent Academy Award winning motion picture A Man For All Seasons, wrote the melody based on the rhythm established by the words Our World repeated in all of the languages of the world.

Noble Wilson, 39-year-old producer of the history-making two-hour telecast to be seen live around-the-world on June 25, said, "the only instructions that we gave Delerue were that it must be tuneful, easy to remember, and suggest something global, and that it must be capable of orchestral treatment."

"In writing the words, 'Our World,' in the various languages he soon found that it had a natural rhythm of its own, and he capitalized on this. It's different and it's tuneful. After hearing it only a couple of times I find myself unconsciously humming it over and over."

Following the Second World War, Delerue worked as a theatre conductor with a touring theatre group, and started writing incidental music for the theatre. This led to writing music for films, and among his many credits are Hiroshima mon amour, Les Jeux de l'amour, La Fanfare, Une aussi longue absence. Tirez sur le pianiste, Jules et Jim, Cartouche, Le Bel age, Le Mepris, Le Bureau des mariages, La Peau douce, The Pumpkin Eater.

He has also composed innumerable scores for "Son et Lumiere" including "Son et Lumiere" at the Egyptian Pyramids.

The Beatles, Van Cliburn and Leonard Bernstein, Japanese shrimp fishermen, a 16-year-old Canadian mermaid, and a Wisconsin farmer will be among the performers in "Our World," the first globe-circling live telecast in history.

"Our World," for which National Educational Television will produce five segments from the United States, will be broadcast Sunday, June 25, at 2:55 p. m., EDT, over N.E.T.'s network of interconnected affiliate stations.

Eighteen nations are taking part in the historic two-hour telecast, which will be beamed via four satellites — three American and one Russian—to a potential viewing audience on five continents of nearly 500 million persons, or 14 per cent of the world's population. The contributing countries are Tunisia, Japan, Austria, France, Sweden, Italy, Spain, England, West Germany, East Germany, Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Canada, Mexico, United States, and Australia. Thirty nations will receive the telecast.

The N.E.T. executive producer for "Our World" is Robert Squier, and N.E.T. Washington correspondent Paul Niven will anchor the telecast from the Western Zone Central Control Studios in New York.

As Western Zone Coordinator, N.E.T. is responsible for all the satellite and long-line switching for the Western Zone, which includes Canada, the United States, Mexico, Australia, and Japan. The engineer in charge is Robert Rugero.

No tape or film will be used at any point during "Our World." The program will open and close with visits to maternity hospitals in Mexico, Poland, Russia, Japan, and Canada for a look at our world's newest residents. Underlying these segments will be the question, what kind of world awaits these infants?

1. One segment of the program will be called This Moment's World, which will present a panoramic look at people and their activities at a precise moment in various parts of the globe. It will start with midnight in Sverdlovsk Airport in Russia, moving through evening in Europe, afternoon in New York City, and so on to the small hours of the morning in Australia and Japan. The N.E.T. sequence will originate from the Children's Zoo in New York's Central Park, where reporter Richard McCutchen will comment.

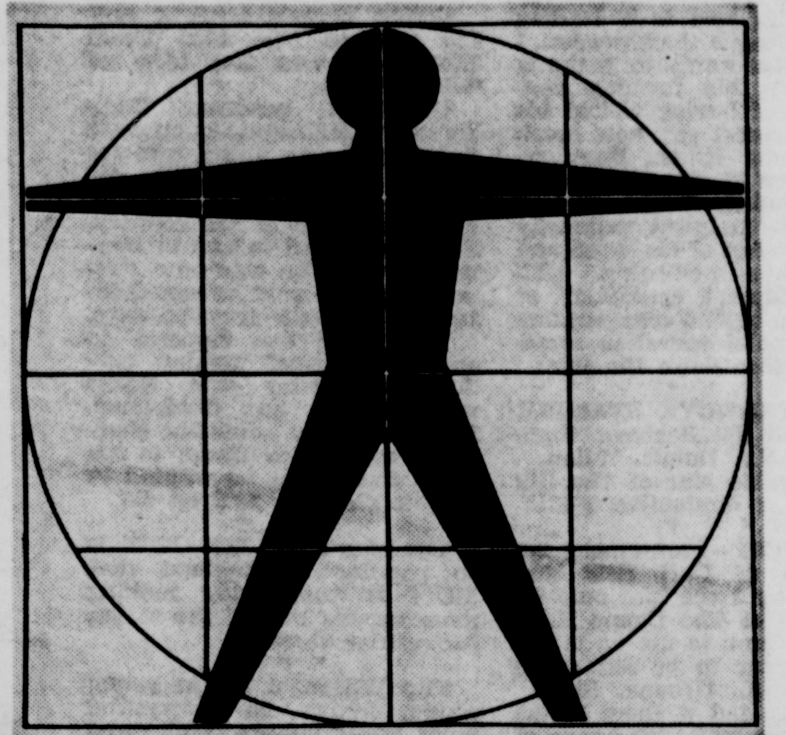

2. The Hungry World will give an overview of worldwide efforts to cope with the rising problem of hunger. The N.E.T. cameras will take us to the town of Prairie Hills, Wisconsin, and the farm of Ron Caldwell and his family. Ron Caldwell is by no means "the man with the hoe." He has at his command a convoy of intricate machinery — machinery which has played a major role in bringing about the American farmer's high level of productivity. N.E.T.'s reporter, columnist Jack Mabley of Chicago's American, will show these machines in action. Also shown will be the scientific mass-production methods employed at a shrimp farm at Takamatsu, Japan, plus a Phytotron at Canberra, Australia, which is capable of simulating the conditions of sunrise and sunset, i.e., 24 hours of sunlight to stimulate growth.

3. The Crowded World — From Scotland, Canada, and New York the viewer will observe the crowded world and proposed solutions in the area of housing. From a helicopter hovering over the New York metropolitan area, the N.E.T. cameras will dramatically portray the current of life, of movement in America's greatest city. Canada will show Habitat, part of its Expo 67 and the most widely discussed apartment complex in the world.

4. Aspiration to Excellence — This section will examine man's pursuit of excellence in two areas — the arts and outdoor athletics. The Beatles will be seen at a London recording studio. N.E.T. will contribute a segment featuring pianist Van Cliburn and conductor Leonard Bernstein reviewing the Rachmaninoff Third Concerto in preparation for their June 28 Philharmonic Hall performance as part of the Lincoln Center Festival 67. Artists Marc Chagall and Joan Miro have been invited to participate in a sequence from the Fondation Maeght, an art museum in Provence, France. In Canada 16-year-old Elaine Tanner will attempt to beat her own record in free-style swimming.

Cameras will stop briefly at the Children's Zoo in New York City, during a whirlwind trip around the world in the sequence entitled "This Moment's World."

The symbol for the first history making global television hook-up, entitled "Our World" incorporates a da Vinci-inspired figure, arms encircling the globe, with the vertical and horizontal lines representing longitude and latitude. The symbol was designed by Germano Fecetti, an artist with the BBC in London.

5. The World Beyond — At Cape Kennedy where man pushes forward the outer limits of his knowledge of our world and those beyond, the N.E.T. cameras will zero-in on the Moonport and the massive Vertical Assembly Building off the Cape on Merritt Island, where the mighty Saturn rocket is being prepared for man's first journey to the new world of the moon. This marks the first time that television cameras have been permitted to photograph these facilities.

With N.E.T. science editor David Prowitt serving as the guide, the worldwide audience will take a look at the Cape Kennedy complex, beginning near the launching pads where the communications satellites Lani Bird and Early Bird, which make this telecast possible, were hurtled into space.

TV Scout Reports

THE PRICE IS RIGHT . . . AND WRONG—My husband has just ruined one of my favorite pasttimes, quiz shows. He tells me that contestants on these programs have to pay taxes on their winnings. Is this true? Ever since he told me I have been thinking more about the taxes these poor people have to pay than their prizes. — M.A., Abilene, Texas.

Sorry to say your husband is right. Uncle Sam wins along with every contestant on every quiz show.

FAMILY FARMER — I have been a fan of Fred MacMurray's for many years but am bothered about one thing. I've seen a few times in stories that he is a "gentleman farmer," a term which bothers me very much. I was raised on a farm and have lived on one all my life. I am disgusted by the idle rich who buy a farm, usually called a ranch, and run it like a factory, only for a profit, or else as a weekend show place for visitors. What sort is MacMurray? — P.D., St. Paul, Minn.

Fred MacMurray owns the Twin Valley Ranch in Healdsburg, Calif., and is a leading Aberdeen-Angus stockbreeder. I am sure he wants to make a profit from his farming venture. Never having visited his ranch, I cannot say how much a showplace it is. However, knowing the MacMurray "family" reputation, I am certain that it is designed primarily for the comfort of his brood and their future well-being, with the "investment operation" of the place a second consideration and the social operation somewhere further down the line.

THE STANWYK STATURE —How tall is Barbara Stanwyck?—R.N., Duluth, Minn. The sizeable star of The Big Valley is a diminutive 5'4".

BETZ BEST—I am among the best fans of Carl Betz and wonder why I see him only on the reruns of The Donna Reed Show. It seems to me he is too fine an actor to be left doing nothing.—J.A., Urbana, Ill.

Betz has had a short hiatus in his career while the image of his Donna Reed Show characterization has diminished. That period has ended however, and Betz is now filming a new series titled Judd, in which he plays a dashing, hard-nosed lawyer of the F. Lee Bailey school.

PERPETUAL PERILS — For several years I have been reading about a series based on the old Perils of Pauline. It seems like an annual rumor. Now I see they have made a movie by that title but still no series, or is this movie supposed to be the basis for a coming series? — S.B., San Antonio, Tex.

Pauline's perils have been mostly aimed at producers who have tried bringing the idea to the home screens. It seems that production requirements, in terms of both time and man hours, plus too great an expense, have pretty much killed Pauline as a TV prospect. Naturally, with the movie debut, the rumor mills will start working again on its TV potentiality, but that is very doubtful in view of its long history of failures.

LIZ AND DICK — My friend tells me that Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are going to do a series titled Liz and Dick At Home. True? — K. T., Miami, Fla.

Not true, but kind of fun to think about.

CRAZY GENII—I know Barbara Eden starred in another series before I Dream of Jeannie, but I can't remember which and neither can anyone else.—T.A., Abilene, Texas.

Barbara starred as Loco in the short-lived TV version of How To Marry A Millionaire.

NECK AND NECK—For the first time in my life I can say "Huray for Reruns." My two favorite programs are Run for

Your Life and The Big Valley and I am always frustrated when they are on because they are both on at the same time. Now with reruns I can at least get to see the program I missed. Can you tell me which of these shows is higher rated and also, is there any possibility that one or the other will switch time periods next year? —Ann McBride, Hartford, Conn.

The two programs have been running a neck-and-neck battle all season long, so it would be only fair to call their popularity poll a tie. As to another time period, Run will run on Wednesday next season (10-11 ET) while Big Valley will stay where it is on Mondays. We hope however that I Spy is not another favorite, since that popular series is moving in opposite Valley.

PERSONAL—I have a personal message for Joanne Tate of Search For Tomorrow. Can you give me her address?—Duluth, Minn.

Write to: Mary Stuart, CBS TV Television Center, 524 West 57th St., New York, N. Y. 10019.

Victor Borge's straight acting role on The Man From U.N.C.L.E. was the idea of Victor Borge.

U.N.C.L.E. producer Boris Ingster said Borge's agent kept bugging him to find a role for Victor. When they finally did get one that was right for him, Borge was out of the country. They sent word to him in Denmark, where he was on a concert tour. He said he would interrupt the tour for five days.

They used two cameras to speed the usual six-day production. Ingster said Borge was nervous but disciplined. Strangely, they wrote the character to be like Borge in his stage shows, but he wanted to play it straight. And he did.

The Man From U.N.C.L.E. is so popular in England that MGM is considering making more movies out of the series, for release abroad.

Flip Wilson, a bright young comic, makes an interesting point about today's comics and audiences. Flip says audiences are much more sophisticated, because TV exposes them to so much material. And because the audiences are so much more aware, many of the new comics are, using techniques that are less sophisticated — simply because they don't have to be.

Easily Recognized

Oh, the power of TV. Mickey Rooney, easily one of the most recognizable actors, was looking forward to filming "The Extraordinary Seaman," an MGM film being made in remote Coatzacoalcas, Mexico, since he figured he could wander around and not be recognized. But the first time he went out he was mobbed (well, as mobbed as one can get in Coatzacoalcas) by locals wanting his autograph. Seems his old movies are among the most popular on Mexican television.
